OH MY LOVE By Beatrice Ofwona

Oh my love
You have restored me when I thought I was finished
And made me new again in you
You have given me back all I thought I had lost and more
And made me realize that I did not need it in the first place
You have sustained me when all I thought I had was myself
And made me see that you will never leave nor forsake me
You have made me whole again from my brokenness and shame
And have given me hope and a new lease of life
You have covered my nakedness with your mercies
And made me beautifully clothed in your love
You have made me a table in front of my enemies
And made me the envy of their eyes and gossip
You have sat me with kings and humbled my doubts
And made me see that nothing is impossible with you
Oh my love!
You have loved me even when I cursed you
And made me cry for my lack of faithfulness
You have held onto me even when I pushed you away
And made me realize that you redeemed me once and for all
You have watched me in my groans and in my loneliness
And made use of this to grow me
You have taught me more in pain, what the world never could in gain
And made me see that I must share in your suffering to be like you
You have gently tolerated my depressions and my sulking
And helped me see who really has the final Word

You have saved my soul when I could fallen into the abyss
And made me know that you are my only love
You have been God to me
And made me see that you are also Abba Father
Oh my love!

How then I wish to know you more
How then I wish to see you
How then I wish to glorify your name
How then I wish to do your bidding
How then I wish to be like you
How then I wish to love like you
How then I wish to be obedient to you
How then I wish to live for you
How then I wish to let your will be done
How then I love you
Oh my love!
